4. It is the finest work of its kind I have seen, and in a period of 30 years on the staffs of [REDACTED] Universities specializing in International Relations, I have seen a great deal of very fine work done with maps to clarify complicated situations involving the power balances between and among nations.

5. Please accept my thanks. I will always feel really proud of these maps, and their use will greatly facilitate the learning process in the complicated and important area of International Relations.

6. I am also indebted to you for the speed with which you produced these map projections.
